Candidate for 10th Congressional District GOP Chairman

Campaign Update

If the debate over healthcare and the subsequent public hostility to it has shown us anything, it has demonstrated again that the public is far more informed than it ever has been. I'm amazed at the people I meet at various events who have detailed and extensive knowledge of the issues confronting the Commonwealth and the nation. Frankly, often they know the issues far better than do many lawmakers.

No doubt part of this new found knowledge is due to political commentators such as Rush Limbaugh and our own Mark Levin. They dissect issues and expose a lot of ideas and news that used to get “buried.” But the other reason is because of the internet. Never before has the public had such immediate access to what is going on – or isn't going on – in their government. Look back to the battle over the illegal alien issue and the “Amnesty” bill; the entire weight of the Presidency and the Congress couldn't overcome an informed public who knew exactly what was in the legislation and how it would impact the lives of Virginians.

This is why one of my main goals, should I be honored to become your next Chairman in the 10th District, is to work hard on new and expanded technology. Informing and educating our own voters, building coalitions of like-minded voters, and attracting young and ethnic voters to our conservative and constitutional perspective will largely be done through “new media.” Social sites and social networking, web sites, and other new media resources will allow us direct access to the citizens of the 10th District. We cannot afford to miss this challenge as a political party.

We are honored to welcome the endorsement of our fourth area Delegate, Scott Lingamfelter, Fauquier and Prince William Counties, to the prior endorsements of Delegate Bob Marshall, Delegate Tim Hugo, and Delegate Jackson Miller.

Likewise, we're honored to continue to receive overwhelming support from the 10th Congressional District and around the Commonwealth...
